

Poetry Series

Aluga Luper Michaels
- poems -

Publication Date:

2018

Publisher:

Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Aluga Luper Michaels(5/1/1995)

Aluga, Luper Michaels is a poet, a spoken word artist, a motivational speaker and a social activist. He is currently in 300 level, Department of English, Benue state university, Makurdi.

Last Night

I lost my patience last night to the wind of expectation
I spoke the language of the moon by late pms
When thoughts of you took over the heart of my mind.
I lost my sane earlier when ur scent stuff me
And I got no reason to feel alone

Aluga Luper Michaels

Life

Life

The road of no start or end

Embarked me on a tour

I m cought alone to trade.

Strange lands grunts welcome to my person

With pleasantly marbled shores

The road leads to pleasure all the way

It seems thus, but

Metamorphosis wave

As I order my feet across.

Aluga Luper Michaels