A Fathers Day In Heaven

A brave and strong man
Once told me be all you can
He helped guide an mold me to who I am
I really do miss that man
He was my hero
He was my daddy
He was my best friend
He Nothing but strength to the end
I looked up to my daddy
I was his little girl
My mom was his everything
He was our whole world
As You laid there with your eyes shut
We prayed and we cried
But we knew you needed to hear daddy its alright
We knew God would take you home that night.
Its now almost been 3 years
I still shed alot tears
Being without you has always been my biggest fear Your gone but I still feel your comfort so close and near Wiping away my sadness as tears
Fathers day approaching
The void of you not here
I dont know if I can cope
I have this constant lump in my throat
But I will be strong
I refuse to be weak
On fathers day i'll send a million kisses up to heaven to land on your cheek.

A Love Poem

We've been friends for a couple years we've listened to each other talk about lost love joys even fears and dried each others tears

We tell each everything no secrets do we have you've watched as guys break my spirits deep down knowing you wanted to be my other half you was fixing to ask me just to give our Love a try when I told you I met a guy he really wanted me to give him a chance so you held your words back inside

You stepped aside so I could have a chance at finding love and it angered you cause all he did was hurt this woman that you love you watched and listened as I went through feelings of anger and so much pain then you told me that you felt to blame then told me how deep your love me is you adore me always have and will

Your words sound so true and sweet no rush though is what you tell me Long as your happy that's all I need

I want so bad to believe your not Just another river of tears for me to cry that you will be the real deal but fear is all that my heart feels it never wants to let love in not anymore as cruel as every man's been

So you stand true and remain my dearest friend hoping that day will come for you to get that chance

One thing that you know is how much I really do want you also

A Mother's Love

A child is a miracle
A blessing from god above
I have three he gave to me
I give them all my love

They go to school and work real hard
Though they dont like to do homework
They race bikes and play in the yard knowing their safe cause mommy's on guard.

I tuck them into bed at night
Because only mama does it right
Then by their door is where i sit
When i hear i love you mama that's what makes My long days worth it

I know they dont stay little
And these moments wont always last
So i always make the best of it
They grow up way to fast

I try hard to be the mom they need
With all my heart i love those three
They are my world you see
So i will teach them right from wrong
And hope when their men their respectful
And strong

And if your given little blessing from god above Hold and guide them but most of all
Always be sure to give them all a mothers love

A Poem For Mom

Growing up you were my best friend
The one I knew I could count on through thick and thin
You sheltered me from harm
From you is where I got my charm
You guided me from right and wrong
When I was sick you sing my favorite song
Even though I moved away I know your not to far Though you was never famous you'll always be my star
You are the angel who gave me life
And how you cried when I became a wife
But mom you raised me well
And I know you will be here if I ever fail
I treasure all the memories from when I was a child
Because when i'm down they always make me smile
I remember my daddy was always a great man
And the both of you were and still are my biggest fan's Things have changed through the years
And we have cried so many tears
Daddy passed and you lost your smile
But don't forget it's just for a little while
When its your time you will be back with that great man
Just one last thing I want to say I am your's and daddy's biggest fan

Anymore

Empty chair in a room
Its where i could always find you
Your once loud guitars now hang silent
On the wall
Your old worn out shoes by the door
Because you don't need them anymore

A house now full of tears
I remember happiness once lived here
Now our hearts fill so sore
Because your not here anymore

My mamas eyes filled with tears that night
She no longer believes in happily ever after now
Its not right you never got your chance to fight
I don't know if mama can take it if she does i don't know how i ask myself why what did god take you for did he think we didn't need you anymore

I watched as you took your very last breath
A man so strong quickly felt weak a body so tired
And very sore god whispered my child come home and you wont hurt anymore

Daddy

Year's have gone by so fast

Our heart's still ache

I still wish it was a bad dream that I would soon awake from I know it's real I just thought time would heal our shattered hearts

I wish I knew how long this pain will last

I hold on to those special memories the fishing Trip's the long heart to heart talks the way you always made us laugh though those are now all I have left to remember you dad and yes I still get sad but knowing your in a better place and you suffer no more pain that does make me glad

I know your watching us from up above and still send signs to show us your always gonna be here for us

I sometimes worry things I've done have disappointed you or wonder if I've made you proud wish you could send a sign somehow

August 3rd is coming quickly and on that day I will be strong and instead of crying remembering that horrible day I had to say goodbye I promise dad I will celebrate the wonderful person you were I'm gonna celebrate your life knowing your noe at peace

Deeper Than The Eyes Can See

I learn a little slower than most I stutter with a lot of my words I can't always express what I feel So most the time I let my feelings go untold

Kids at school love to tease
They think it's funny that I have an incurable mental disease
They point an laugh Just cause I'm different

They don't know there's more to me
Then what the eyes Can see
But they don't care
They rather bully me

I have autism I live in my own little world full of confusion
I have meltdowns
Just cause of unexpected changes
I have sleepless nights I want to fight
But I'm human and I have feeling
And a heart.

If closed minded people gave me a chance They'd see the only difference between you and me is I see everything deeper than eyes can see

Finally Love

A sparkling ember burns as hot as the sun,
As we will finally lay together our bodies become one.

The Love we share, will last for all time,
I waited so long, but I finally made you mine.

My Love will stand against the test,
My heart will prove true and shine above the rest. When I take my final breath it'll be to say baby I love you

I Love You my Angel, our Love will remain true, No matter what happened or what they did to I forever promise to show you that your love is deserving

Amanda Celino

For My True Love

Your eye's are brown green
The cutest guy I ever seen
The kindest man with such a big heart
I knew I loved you from the start Before you came into my life my heart was broke
I use to think of true love as a joke
You opened my eye's and showed me true love is real
For it only took you to make this heart full an all the wall's dropped your the man that's there to catch me when I fall
Arm's so strong it's where I feel safe
There is no other who can take place

Speak Up

she goes to school with bruises the teachers see but ignore it she died a few days later her daddy beat her maybe she'd be here if only someone would of speak up

We see starving kids everyday most people just turn an look another way families torn apart because most people have no heart we should speak up she goes to school wearing the same smelly clothes as the day before, she has an uncle who touches her where no man should go she tries to tell but nobody believes a 7yr old girl she cut her wrists to escape her hell

Because not a soul would just speak up

Those Words I Could Never Say

Meeting you that day
Has changed my thoughts, feelings, changed me
In how I see myself
Though I feel myself falling
Those words I can never say

You make me smile when I wanna cry
You make me laugh when I'm dying inside.
I can't help but want you by my side
Though I feel myself falling
Those words I could never say

My biggest wish is to be in your arms
With my head upon your chest
Knowing how you make me feel
So safe and so secure I want to tell you so bad
Though I feel myself falling
Those are words I could never say

I love your goofiness
How you brighten my smile with a simple hello
I love how you always try to word things so perfect
I LOVE YOU
Though I feel myself falling
Those words I can never say

Without You

My days would be so foggy yet so blue my thoughts wouldn't make sense without you

You my love your the glue that molds us into two without you there would be no me I would cease to want to even breath if there was a life without you

Your my calm when everything is crazy

Your my laughter when I feel like crying

Your my strength when I am weak

Your my rock so see without you

I would have no need to breath
