Clifton Cameron(03/08/63)

My name is Clifton Cameron a poet and i live in the UK. Voice from the Wilderness is an inspirational poetry book and you can purchase it at all major bookshop in the UK and the world.

I write poems to educate and motivate people all over the world. It helps me to share my talent with the reading public all over. At the moment i am correcting my novel which will be out later this year.

The British Way Of Life

The British people have a good sense of humour
They like to strive on gossip and rumours
I like the British way of life
It can be stressful at times but they don't dwell on strife
Britain is a country of multi-culture
People from all countries came to the UK for a better future

The British culture is embraced all over
Once ago the UK was the world shaker and mover
English people like to have a party
They will drink and get drunk
But they are generous and like to give money to fight poverty
The UK is a fun loving nation
They embrace multi culturism
But some ethnic group don't do integration

Understanding

There are so little love and understanding in the heart of man

We need more love and understanding from everyone

Everyone was once young then later on in life we all grows old

After those stages in life why is it mankind behave so cold?

There is no love and happiness left for us to share

If we all have to live together and show that we care

The fools and their money shall surely depart

Love thy neighbour straight from your heart

Life is too short to be living it in sorrow

Make way for your children sake and for a better tomorrow

Why do we have to live in stress and pain?

After all we don't buy our blessing it shower down on us like rain
