

Poetry Series

Ellen Manning
- poems -

Publication Date:
2009

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Ellen Manning()

Down A Dark Long Road

As I drive with my hands on the wheel I glance at the sky just to notice the stars glaring down on me with the lord driving in the seat with me

11/27/09

Ellen Manning

I Know In My Heart

I know in my heart i have a target to find the day i find my heart i will find my target with out a heart there is no target.

Ellen Manning

On A Wet Rainy Day

I walk up to a fruit stand with nothing to say the people looked so lonesome for such a rainy day, the fruit was so bright and colorful its a shame there having such a lonesome day.11/27/09

Ellen Manning

The Heart Beat

The heart beats like the ocean making waves so thump sound of water running through our wusing sound of the ocean waves keeping the water flowing so soft.
The beautiful sound of the heart beat that keeps us a live.

11/27/09

Ellen Manning

To My Loving Husband

I bring you these notes for the times I may have forgotten to tell you how much you mean to me. You are like a Golden Apple that can not be reproduced. You are eyes I use to see with You are my hands I use to feel with You always walk me down the correct path You are the sun to me when it rains you are the beat that keeps my heart beating You never give up on anything until its finished You push me until I see the light when You walk in a room the room brightens with out turning the lights on You are the magic in the air with out You I would be lost like paper blowing in the wind so please keep smileing and dont ever leave.

11/27/09

Ellen Manning

With This Letter I Declare

With this letter i declare Im suposse to find you there If i dont i will still be there waiting when you show i will know just because i have your soul with you soul i declare i love you so and i will allways be there.

Ellen Manning