

Poetry Series

faith pfumbidza
- poems -

Publication Date:
2012

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

faith pfumbidza()

I Am Smiling

You might have hurt me
not once but many times
You might hate me now more than anything in this life
You might curse me
and wish me dead
But i am smiling now

You might have made me cry
and hurt me so bad
You might have pained me so and broken my bones and heart
but still i am smiling

I used to cry each time i looked in the mirror and see the scars
the results of your brutality
I used to cry each time i thought about you but now i dont
i cry no more
i smile and thank God
who once united us
I smile at life
coz i know you have made me a different person you have made me a strong woman and i am all that i am because of you I smile at what i am I smile at what i have been through I smile and will forever continue smiling

faith pfumbidza

I Am There

when you need someone
just know i am there
when you need something
remember my name
anytime you need me
i will be there
i will wipe you tears
and put a smile back on your face
i will pick you up and dust you after you fall
i am here and forever will be ther

faith pfumbidza

Would You Be Here

At times i wonder if i was wrong
Sometimes i blame myself
for what we are now
I ask myself
but who can answer
we are now worlds apart
but till i find an answer
I will keep on asking

Would you still be here
If i had been someone else
Would we still be together
If only i had pretended to be someone else
Would i have saved us by lies?
And still be together now

Would you be here
if i had not loved you so Would not my heart be so sore if i had tried to be what i am not Would you still be with me?
still here with me

faith pfumbidza