

Poetry Series

Ira Nospmis
- poems -

Publication Date:
2008

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Ira Nospmis(03-20-1993)

There is not much to say really, except if you read my poems you will find out all you want to know!

Broken!

My heart broken, beaten to the ground,
I have no one to hold when you're not around,
I wish I could see you see your face again,
See your beautiful smile before this all began.
We just met, but I don't care,
I never felt this way before, it's not fair.
Not speaking is like having no air,
I keep trying to breath but you don't want to share.
When I found out you liked me,
I knew it was never meant to be,
You're beautiful, sweet, smart, and perfect in every way,
An yet my heart still broken for one more day.

Ira Nospmis

Falling Tears!

Bloody tears are falling from my eyes.
As I stand in front of you
about to take my life.
You beg and you plead,
for me not to, with no prevail.
Can't you see that the world is better off with out me?
You might hurt for a while but the memories and the pain will fade.
I don't really want to, but,
I don't want your pity either.
Bloody tears have fallen
with the end of my life.

Ira Nospmis

Pain!

It grows,
With each passing day.
Endless agony,
That wont go away.

It tries,
To cover the pain.
So that I,
May live another day.

It fails,
And it hurts even worse.
Your love,
Has now become my curse.

It weeps,
For the pain I feel.
Just know that,
You broke what nothing can heal.

Ira Nospmis