

Poetry Series

Julia Tippett
- poems -

Publication Date:
2010

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Julia Tippett(June 8,1997)

As I Am Blind

While you may forget
As time wears on
I will remember
Your life was a Star
blinding me Forever
Leaving me
Alone
As I am blind

Leaving me
To take
It all
Not to share
With anyone
But my star
As I am blind

As time wears on
I may become Only a fond Memory
But
I cannot forget Because you Left me to be Blind
Not seeing faces
As I am blind

Julia Tippett

Darkness

What lies Within Lurking
Unseen Waiting To pounce Until
There Is Light

Julia Tippett

Move On

Remember me when I am gone for these trees are not where I'm done these places
these people
not for me
I
must always move on

remember me when you sing for our voices are still one these songs
this music
not for me
I
must always move on

remember me when you laugh for our laughs echo forever these hills
these times
not for me
I
must always move on

remember me when you are stuck for I was once stuck too before I left you those hopes that time
not for me
I
must always move on

remember me when you love for I still love you and I know you too will come this love is for us we

must always move on

Julia Tippett

Scattered

I am Leaving bits
Of me
Where I Leave

Julia Tippett

Silence

Peace

In times of war

War

In times of peace

No one knows

What lies within

The beautiful magic

Of silence

' '

Julia Tippett

Stranger In Me

I walk the path of a stranger Yet this path is new I am alone
Writing the path
With the stranger
The stranger
In me

Julia Tippett