

Poetry Series

Kasie Chavez
- poems -

Publication Date:
2009

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Kasie Chavez(09-11-1995)

Poet/Musician

Can'T Leave Him

I just can't leave him but I want you so bad I think I'm in love please don't be sad I feel like leaving him but I can't let him go I know it tears you up but I thought I'd let you know that no matter what if you move on or keep tearing apart you would always have a place inside of my heart

Kasie Chavez

Captured By Your Love

Black and red are the roses on my bed
Your voice is always lingering in my head Millions of texts all say 'I love you' Chocolate and love letters too
You did all this for my attention You try to lead me to your direction and like a puppy I choose to follow Only because my heart is hollow
I feel so addicted to you so bad Without you I would be driven mad I'm captured by your love held by your chains
To be how I am till we meet again

Kasie Chavez

Don'T Give Up

I know you have some problems and I try to help you out But there's no reason to get mad at someone you care about
I know I can be annoying but you know I really care
So please don't block your life out because you say life isn't fair Everyone has their bad days and well I have mine too
But you have keep moving on and do what you wanna do Nobody is in your way but seeing you sad hurts a lot So honey live this life well because this is all you've got

Kasie Chavez

Emo Poem

blood swaying freely along my arms and starts dripping on the floor I'm letting it all happen cuz I believe that I can't take anymore this life that I'm living is too hard, so I gave up now I'm cutting myself in this darkness cuz my life isn't enough

Kasie Chavez

Heartbroken

He was the one thing I can never live without Everything I needed, what my life's all about And even though I had given him everything Reason tells me that I'm his nothing Time and time again I cry myself to sleep Bleeding from the heart he stabbed to show he wants to leave Right now I feel empty and I feel so alone Only thing I've felt when my heart was torn from the bone Killed my heart so truly and left me here with nothing Even seeing my scars remind me of that one thing

Kasie Chavez

If

If you didn't know that I love you, then you must be blind to see a girl like me leave her past life behind to change into the girl you want me to be I try so hard to impress you but you don't notice me every day I try to tell you how I feel but you ignore me and pretend I'm not real If you knew how much you are to me, you'd know why I had to cry Because the chances of us being together are impossible to deny even if I'm nothing to you, I've made you my life but the facts feel as if my heart's been stabbed with a knife I admit I'm obsessed with a guy I barely know but I know if we're together, then our love can really grow If you were to know how much I care, I'd feel as if you would too Because I know that I was born just to be with you you're the prince in my dreams, but I doubt I'm your girl Because if I were in your dreams, I know you'd want to hurl Because it's all another fairytale, a wish that's been denied and if I knew that you love me too, I wouldn't be wishing to die

Kasie Chavez

Love Is Gone

the light i've known has disappeared the face i've love's no longer here the one i love has stabbed my heart and now my life's tearing apart he left me knowing what would happen my life is wrong without him now all I do is lock up my love and kill the gift I've been given from above so if you're reading this out loud know that the meaning is hiding somehow and if the one you love leaves you know your heart is leaving too

Kasie Chavez

Obsession

I've stabbed you in the back so many times but you won't seem to die I've ripped apart your heart again but you won't seem to cry I try to forsake me from your memory but no matter what I do you never break cuz all I give is another reason for you to love me and forgive me cuz you know I never meant it and you're so determined to have me that you swore never to quit so I grab my heart out of my chest and make it disappear then you walk away, never knowing that it's hiding in my fear

Kasie Chavez

Pain Of Life

Feeling blank, out of place
My whole life's a disgrace Pushed so hard just to fall
No one cares for me at all Feeling down, never glad Losing all I've ever had Nothing hurts more than all this Crying, bleeding, feels like s Feeling small and out of place Loved then stabbed right in the face Wishing back my yesterday That's how i feel everyday

Kasie Chavez

Realization

when we're all left in darkness, we can see who we are and what has happened to the soul that was once blessed by the lord. we can realize that when we chose our life, either the lord's blessed one or eternal pain, we'll wish we chose the blessed one

Kasie Chavez

Spring

How sweet to look out your window to see the blue dew drops Hanging off the window pane as well as the tree tops Breathing life into the plants below who almost met their time Bringing more feeling into the beautiful spring sky

Kasie Chavez

Strength

the heart weakens with every kiss the walls keep falling apart my mind starts to wander away and eventually, so does my heart but the hammer called heartbreak it's ready to hit me hard so i'll strenghten the walls around me so my heart will have it's guard

Kasie Chavez

Tell Me

Just tell me you love me I already know you do so tell me those words just say I love you you can't hide it it slips out even if you don't know I've known by the look in your eyes cuz in your eyes is where they show you can regret all you want but you want me to know that I'm the only girl you want and your heart won't let me go

Kasie Chavez

The Gift From The Devil

do I really have to care about life as it is cuz everything I have is really his my life, my thoughts, my heart and soul are unable for me to recontrol am I supposed to listen to everyone's thoughts cuz all their lives are filled with battles unfought with their upcoming deaths and the bloody grounds and all the bodies that remain unfound was I given a blessing or is it a curse to take in your life and make it much worse to ruin your soul, to create your dreams to see you scared, to hear your screams can this be revoked or is it to stay is it temporary, will it go away this gift is drawing me closer to my suicide I've sold my soul and I can no longer hide

Kasie Chavez

This Loneliness

This loneliness is killing me Drowning me, I cannot breathe I'm suffocating in the water
The hate, it brings me lower And I can't help not to ignore That every weakness comes before The life and death of the light in me
The birth of an evil so devastating

This loneliness is hurting me Inside and out, I cannot breathe You left me hanging on my noose You left it hanging very loose
And when I see the light inside
It fades to black with silent cries
I watch it all before my eyes
It all disappears before my eyes

This loneliness is emptying Hyperventilating, I cannot breathe
As fear runs through and takes my breath
It watches as you leave me to my death
And when I least expect the fall You push me in, soul and all You watch me fall deep in my pain You left me alone, screaming your name

This loneliness is suffocating Too little too space, I cannot breathe.

Kasie Chavez

True Colors

I bleed red with a great passion
The Fire inside me takes its action Breaking the glass that cages me in Cutting these scars I've had to begin This Fire shows you my emotion's truth Cause my true colors spill in front of you

I bleed blue in a river so deep Drowning my pain in an endless sleep Water runs through my lungs so fast Air escaping, this all cannot last As I drown in the river I made and grew My true colors spill in front of you

I bleed green, keeping in all I knew And I can't stand to be here without you You've taken my all; I'm left with nothing You've taken my heart, you've broken my wings You took all I had and broke it in two Yet my true colors spill in front of you

I bleed yellow with hidden sunshine Hiding this light from my deceiving eyes
The playfulness I knew before the dark clouds Came and destroyed everything around While the dark clouds mask all I ever knew
My true colors spill in front of you

I bleed orange in your arms Where I know I really belong
The embrace I felt not so long ago I can never get it back since I've let you go I wish for this back and I hope it comes true Till then my true colors spill in front of you

I used to bleed purple, now it's a pain Cause I never really know if I'll feel it again It's confusing my head, like it did my heart Like trying to find the end from the start

As I try to figure out what I should do
My true colors spill in front of you

I still bleed pink, why do I still do this?
I bleed while the poison still fills your kiss
And Venus still watches but her work fails me She guides my heart, but she fails miserably
As Venus keeps working, I realize the truth
My true colors spill in front of you

I bleed jet black with my sincere breath
As my heart plans a date for her and Death
He knows of the heart ache you left on me Scars as souvenirs, this pain left for me And as my heart rots, my love dies too But my true colors spill in front of you

I bleed white, hoping you'd come through While I bleed the rainbow, you'd see the truth
But I know if it happens, it's all just a dream It's something that won't be what it seems So as I bleed hope and wish love to pull through My true colors spill in front of you

Kasie Chavez

True Friend

I've always chose to be on your side when you're in pain or planning suicide I stop you from your stupid choices with just the sound of my voice when you're in the dark and feeling scared you won't be alone cuz I'll be there I'd take a bullet just for you cuz I'm a true friend and it's what I do

Kasie Chavez

Unlock Your Heart

I know that you've locked your heart for all these years
And having it hurt's just the worst of all fears But I promised you forever and I'll never hold back I want to move into your heart, so let me unpack I want to come in and keep you so safe dear I will never leave you, I will always be here So unlock the door to your heart, I swear you won't regret Having me inside your heart never will be second best I will stay and protect you from all of the bad things I will make you smile rather than making a scene So unlock your heart for now, and let me come in I promise you your fairytale ending would just begin

Kasie Chavez

What It Takes

Tell me what it takes To erase these past mistakes.
What does it take just to forget?
I can't live with this regret...

My dear, tell me what I must do To make you let go of what I did to you My heart, please give me a chance To bring from the dead our past romance

Kasie Chavez

Would

what would you do if I chose to die... if I took the bullet for you?
would you be willing to end your life?
what would you say if I started to cry... if the bullet I took didn't kill me yet?
would you tell me that everything will be alright?

Kasie Chavez

Yours

I know I can't be who you want me to be I know I can try to at least be something That will make you proud to call me yours

I know I can't make you fall on your knees And beg for what you say you really need But when you do, I'll be glad to be yours

I know that we both have different personalities Both opposite in ways way too confusing
But at least I have the right to call you mine
And being yours is the best thing in my whole life

Kasie Chavez