

Poetry Series

Lacid Tempels
- poems -

Publication Date:
2015

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Lacid Tempels()

Real name Njoku Israel, studying mass communications in The University Of Nigeria. A lover of the Aesthetics, especially poetry.

Let The Heavens Testify

Let the heavens testify
To That Which The Earth Cannot Justify
Truth Lying In Ceaseless Pain
At Its Expense, The World Gain
The Blood Of Innocents Soak The Dry Sands
Justice Defenceless, Robbed Off Her Fangs

Lacid Tempels

The Screen And Catharsis

I Can Feel It
The Nostalgic Warmth On My Arms
I Can Remember
The Flow Of My Milk
Into Your Suckling Mouth
Many Years Ago
When Happiness Was Still A Friend
To My young Heart
But Now
Now That Your Bones Are Calcified
And Your Taste Buds Taste Differ
Now The Story Of Youth
And Independence Premiers
Now Your Joy Was To Dot My Eyes
Now... Now Only A Melancholy Heart Beats
In Deafening Silence
Now Only Salty Liquid Streams
In Facial Rivulets
Now Only The Tv Sings
The Reminder Of Those Bedtime Stories
Turned Sour By The Bullets Of The Law
My Colour Son, Became Your Curse

Lacid Tempels