

Poetry Series

leah scott
- poems -

Publication Date:
2013

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

leah scott()

All I Know

Why even bother?
why try to care?
'Cus we all know
No ones really there.
How do we know we're real?
How do we know who our real friends are?
All i know and i want you to know,
Is that you're my best friend
And i NEVER want to let you go.
xx

leah scott

I Love You

You look pretty in a dress,
jeans and tees too.

You know how to impress,
and make me love you.

leah scott

Madness

Crazy, that's what we all are,
as we make a wish on a shooting star.
Close our eyes and say the magic words
even greeting magpie birds.
'guess you could say we're mad as we think of all the 'good times' we've had But that's what makes us 'us'
it's what makes us special.

leah scott

Praise

the religious praise
that goes on for days hallelujah we hear them call Praise the adults
praise the children
praise for one and all

leah scott