

Poetry Series

Mariah Whitfield
- poems -

Publication Date:
2011

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Mariah Whitfield(12-7-90)

My name is Annie Whitfield and I enjoy writing poems. They made me feel like i'm in my on the reason I started writing poem is because my bestfriend pushed after she died in 06 I kept writing because I feel like that's what she would of wanted me to do.

Man Up

when we tell guys your pregnet some gets scared and trys to run away leaving us abondon and afraid with nothing but hope and prayer to lead the way
its gets hard sometimes with the growing pains babies beating on our walls and all we can feel is pain oh it hurts and drives us insane but we know we got to manetane and stay ahead of our game because everyone deserve life and thats know duout in my mind because do time everyone will see christ

Mariah Whitfield

Never Say Good-Bye

I sat over you grieving until you fell asleep when you closed your eyes I saw it in your breath and that was because of me so I sat down in front of you think why is this happen because we both know you would never harm me I'm sorry for hurting you cause your my everything my mother just don't understand our love
like the rest of the world i'm puzzled and tired of people judging you and trying to figure you out

Mariah Whitfield

Realizing Life

death is a calling thats surrounds us everyday and must people get scared and trys to run away
you can run
you can't hide
death will find you and thats know surprise it's ment for everyone to die and live in the sky thats gods way of saying come on in to my kingdom and live up high knowing I did wrong
god for gave me and said welcome home I felt greatful and bless lord knows that will put me under alot of stress but I just wish for me best thanks lord you or the best

Mariah Whitfield

Something New

waking up in your world a place I never been wondering why it took so long in a place I never been it feels good it feels great to know that i'm here with you in this special place my heart is running a tight race because i'm fighting off so much more they I can't take i'm ready to do the same nomore cheating
nomore lies nomore games
I did them all thats why i'm looking for a change

Mariah Whitfield

Sorrow

sorrow can leave you spending in a frame with so much guilt and pain sorrow was taken as a game but it's so much more than an emotion it's a pain love brings sorrow in the game it's like a pain calling your name sometimes that come and never goes away sorrow is based on a fear sorrow is a secret you hold near sorrow can hurt based on if it's a fear but that's basically why sorrow found you here

Mariah Whitfield