

Poetry Series

Maxine Sousley
- poems -

Publication Date:
2008

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Maxine Sousley(11/07/1970)

These are poems I have been inspired to write since meeting and falling love with my husband Joe.

They are about discovering true love, seperation, and knowing a love of a life time.

I have never studied poetry nor written any in my lifetime until now. I am sure they may be raw but they are from my heart.

Breaking Me

Throw Your Book at my feet
Tell me the reasons and the whys
Read it off one sentence at a time
Lock me away to cover the lies

I can't breath anymore
I can no longer find my voice
You tell me that my life is yours
You have taken away my choice

What if I wanted to run
Throw this back in your face
What would you do to me then
Put me back in my place

You are killing me too slow
What are you waiting for Bury me quickly please
I am not yours anymore

Maxine Sousley

What Am I Doing?

I found a love and friendship
Feels powerful, extreme, and bold
Now I'm sitting alone and behind
As the season turns from cold

What am I doing
I keep losing my mind and place
Should I care only for him
I can only see his face

Damned if I do, Damned if I don't
I can't keep all things from falling
So tired and still no progress
Nothing left when he is calling part 2 continued.....

Maxine Sousley

What Am I Doing? Part 2

I gave my entire soul to you
I give more when we are apart
I don't want to hurt even more inside
You are injuring my tender heart

You used to be able to hear my thoughts
Don't you remember the bond we keep?
Where is the man who knew me well
He believed my love ran deep

Are you going to run away again?
Say goodbye with every breath
Leaving me alone to cry once more
To face my spiritual death

Maxine Sousley

Words From Our Heart...My Husband Wrote Back To Me

The lessons we learn from our failure are lessons that help us succeed and if we are wise and we heed them then failure is just what we need

God is the one who sees the whole his knowledge is fully complete we see but portions of the truth as lines the never quite meet

It was only a brief little note and a word that was prayerfully spoken yet not in vain, for it soothed the pain of a heart that was nearly broken

For better and for worse, we pledge through sickness and through strife and by the help and grace of God we will keep our vows for life

I love you with all of my heart and soul! ! !
Your husband Sparky.

Maxine Sousley

You And I Know

You and I know what you did
Took a home and all inside
Tried to pretend that you cared
But now you run and hide

Stolen things, and all the trust
You tore out a tender heart
You've lost this love forever
Threw it away, and tore it apart

You and I know what you did
Bet you sleep like a baby at night
Do not get too comfortable now
Feel my justice, and expect a fight

You are a hollow, sickened soul
Living to prey behind our name
You have it all but still have nothing
You are a disease, and are a shame

Maxine Sousley