A Valentines Rose

I handed you a single rose as I looked into your eyes I told you that my heart was yours until the end of time

A single rose with petals black dark as middest night against pale skin, contrasting hard a wonderful sight

Your gentle eyes, aflame of green stir me to the core your loving smile, sooths deep within I couldn't ask for more

A single rose, is all I have to show you that i'm yours and time and tide, should you say yes will bring you so much more

Blessed Samhain

As the veil thins Worlds merge to be as one Spirit walk among us as we welcome our ancestors back to be with us.

The hounds of annwyn ride as the sun sets collecting the souls of those who have left us Where they will rest and reflect in the summerlands either to wait for us or to come back into our lives

A time to cleanse to clear our hearts and minds of things that have befallen us, of loves lost, friends gone, of memories that hurt us

A time to start over with joy in our hearts and fire in our spirits with the wisdom of the elders and the teachings of our ancestors

It is a good time to be a witch We know our responsibilities our need to ensure the ways of the old ones are not forgotten and that we pass on the teachings, to those who wish to know.

Blessed Samhain,

Damned Like Beauty

No other woman can come close to you All others view with envy and prejudice A woman's inner beauty lies not within the mirror but what is within her heart and soul the make up which is worn by many only emphasises what is there it cannot define or change the inner soul It cannot mask the heart

Your radiance is all encompassing to me Your warmth still felt deep within me I sense you walk alongside me and know i am never truly alone

I still remember your parting touch your words within my ear still as strong now, as when you said them a part of me now, as sure as the spirit within me

I gave you my heart by my own free will I know you still own it as you are within my thoughts still in my soul, still in my being even should you return it, you will keep a part of it

The miles separate us still but if you look to the sky know well, i'm doing the same and know that i still call to you know that if ever you need me that i am here, know that i will always come to you and wipe away the tears and the pain

Damned like beauty maybe but am i now damned and divine also? but if damnation is to have you in my heart and soul for all eternity then so mote it be and i will have it no other way

Does This Love Lie Dying?

on a bedded crown of thorns, within the thorns, i still glimpse the Rose but soon will you be gone?

Each day the sun lies hidden and the grey clouds fill the sky and tears and rain are falling and you're the reason why

And so one last time I'll call to you a simple yes or no and either take me by the hand or simply let me go

Everything

Every dream is filled by you Every day time thought Every second so it seems Every moment caught

Every thing I say or do Everthing I write
Every single note I sing Everything is right

Every chord i ever play Every passing hour
Every moment, every day Every blooming flower

Every heart beat stole by you Every moment shared
Every thing I say or do,
Every secret bared

Every tear you wiped away Every wound you bathed Every thing i'm humbled for Every single day

How.....

How do you find a heart that is unsure it wants to be found How do assure a spirit that is unsure it needs assurance

How do you re-kindle a love
When the flame is but an ember How do you reach out to someone that is unsure they want to be reached

How can I show that all i have said is true mere words are never enough Is it too far a step to take my hand, walk with me and take all the insecurity away

Once we were inseparable, is that love really gone? just a memory now to those, who care to remember

If I Hold Out My Hand

If I held out my hand Would you take away my fears Would you hold me close to you Would you wipe away these tears

Would you mend this breaking heart And show the love you have Would you teach me what you know Would this broken man you'd save

Would you listen to these words And hear my words so true
And not be offended when you hear That I can't write any more for you

I cannot say more than you already know You know me to be true
And now it is your decision, yours alone
Our future is up to you

So please my love, just take a thought And make a final choice Take me back or let me go But let me hear your voice.

Love Said No

A lonely man
A lonely room
Seeking your heart
But the times too soon
You see my tears,
You hear me cry
You hear me ask So often why

A breaking heart
No one to see
No one but you Saw the real me
If I could change
What went before I would show you how I could love you more

Each passing day
I walk alone
Not hearing you
Are you really gone
Is it what you want
For me to go Then i'll just accept That love said no.

Mend These Broken Wings

Help me mend these broken wings I've been grounded far too long Help me reach unto the skies Help me find my song

Help the sun shine on me again Help grey skies turn to blue and from the ashes of what went before Life will start anew.

When i fell, you broke my fall
You picked me from the ground You bathed my wounds, you carried me strength through you I found, without you there, to be my friend I never could have coped a gentle word, a soothing smile above all, gave me hope

And as the sun breaks through the night
The dawn of a new start A new beginning, a fresh new day Mended wings and mending heart

Mistress Poison

A poison runs throughout these veins she has taken of my all no part of me cannot escape the urge from when she calls

Tingling fingers, second sight knowing she must feed I cannot take my leave of her and her carnal needs i cannot ever rid myself of the toxin that she gave infected now, no antidote i am a loyal slave

Mistress poisons' vampyric kiss is death to some not all many people shy away I answer to her call

A loyal slave to my dark queen my throat taken when'er she needs and drinks upon a blood red wine she fulfils my destiny

The Sky Is Crying

Teardrops of the sky fall all around I walk upon my own and every step is harder still because I walk alone

though miles away
You live within my soul and still I hope that one day soon two halves become the whole until that day the sky will weep its tears fall from the above and there they caress those shed for you my tears for a lost love

This Fragile Heart

I stare each night,
At star filled skies,
I recall the day,
You said good-bye.

I remember how,
It was you and I,
Together, forever,
As days went by.

A missing piece,
Of my fragile heart,
I gave to you,
Right from the start.

And now I weep,
You've gone away,
I miss you more,
Each passing day.

Please tell me why,
You went away? ,
Will you please come back,
To me someday?

Please tell me dear,
What I must do,
Is there a way,
To show my love to you,

You own my heart,
You own my all,
I'm yours forever,
I am at your call,

Please my rose,
Come back to me, and together we can,
be all that we can be,

This Thing I Call My Heart

Can you ever really know or could even comprehend this magical hold you have on me and that it will never end

Do you often wonder why I always talk to you why I say the things I say and do the things I do

Don't you think that come the day I break down all those walls and we will be together and i can be there if you fall

Time is of of no consequence I will wait until the end of time Until i know you know me true
And you heart and love are mine

Can't you even understand please darling all I ask Is that everything that went before was learned there in the past

Maybe a new beginning maybe a fresh start And all I'll ask is you hold on tight to this thing i call my heart
