

Poetry Series

Racheal
- poems -

Publication Date:
2008

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Racheal()

Loves Call

lights that fade
with unanswered questions always around like a relentless shade
love's call forgotten

Racheal

Obsessed With You

Every day and night
I think of you
Then a light
Goes on in my head
I'll just ignore you
So while I ignore you
I'm still thinking
That you're cute
I can't help it after A couple of days
I'm obsessed with you That's just it I've never Been obsessed with Anyone but you
That's my problem
I can't get you
Out of my head
I even thought
Of how a date
Would be but it'll Never happen because I don't know if You like me back I see you in the Hall and look at
You and then hurry
To my class
I watch you
At recess
When you play Football with Your friends
I can't help it
And I want to Scream because I'm obsessed with You and only
You nobody else
Matters to me but you

Racheal

One Life

A life never known.
Someone too selfish to care
to see past the reflection to acknowledge the problem.

Same question asked, never with any heart behind it.

Soon doubt sets in,
then one slash to mark
the pain - one endless cycle.

The chance to stop it has come and gone.

Never realizing until it's too late.

Standing decked in black with eyes red from crying about the 'could have beens.'

Finally seeing the world around, and everything in it for what it really is.

Taking one life to see past the reflection.

One story untold because of one selfish person.

The question is why

Why can't we see past our reflection?

Why can't we stop it before it starts?

Racheal

The One

You sing about the one you love but you don't understand that she doesn't love you and I do. I would kill to be the one you sing about before you go to bed. To be the last one you think about at night and the first one you think about when you wake up.

Racheal

The Pit

The pit is ever growing Sucking me into its contagious Desire of needing, wanting, yearning
To have it all within arms reach

The wanting never stop It's always there no matter What I do, it will always Be there through rain or shine

Racheal

To Hell With It

the life you live isn't a perfect one but you don't care
you just say
To Hell With It

When asked what you want to do with your life you just shrug & say
To Hell With It

When she was going out with you she asked for s.x with a condom you said
To Hell With It

When you got your own place it cost to much to pay for you said
To Hell With It

To Hell With It
was your reply for everything until you met me & said
Hell Yes This Rocks

Racheal