Zoom In, Zoom Out

There is still uncertainty, far from all concerns.
Life is too short to battle and hide the unjust.
When a mango is ripe, it will fall from the tree.
Zoom in on the desirable things and zoom out on the undesirable.

A Twisted Mind Rarely Flourishes.

A twisted mind rarely flourishes -

Dusts are transported away by winds.

The gloom flees when the sun comes out.

Waves produce a loud roar as they approach the coast.

Everything is resolved by nature in its own way.

What exists today won't exist tomorrow.

Clear your head and stay focused on your task because when time moves on, it pushes aside everything that stands in his way.

A crooked mind never grows; it harms the body and the mind's health.

Troll ~ A Social Media Weapon

Social media has bridged the gap and world has become a global village people have utilised this platform to write and communicate effectively but some nuisance is also attached to it And the biggest of all is a Troll this weapon, simply nag your brain and you get worried for nothing but words words are arrows thrown at you it will do no harm yet you keep worrying so beware of such troll and the person doing it Remember, a roaring lion will never catch the prey and an intelligent lion will seldom roar.

Pearls Of Memory

As I watch from the coast of relationships,
I notice the waves of love rising one by one before fading.

They go deep and deeper in the memories to settle their for ever the pearls of past shines in future.

Thoughts In My Mind.

Standing on the shore of relationships
I see the waves of love turning up
One by one and then diminishing
Going deep to the base
To never return.
What remains
Is the bunch of memories
Giving life to the body to carry
And live this otherwise a dead life.

I Am On Second Sky

I am on the second sky,
fragrance carries persona;
face livens up and glows love floats like a lotus - death never enters the garden timeless world floats on only me and you together.
