

Poetry Series

serena peck
- poems -

Publication Date:
2008

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

serena peck(8/27/86)

my name is serena peck and all these poems are inspired by on individual whom I have lost.

Darkest Evil

My heart has found the darkest evil.
For I love one, and now another.
A windstorm my mind has become.
One I love with all my heart,
however immature he is.
The other I love more,
but he loves another.
My heart and mind are sore,
from the confusion they endure.
In misery I shall remain,
till I can understand which is my hearts domain.

serena peck

Love

Gleaming like a star,
I am freed from this dark hell.
Someone has saved the light that was left.
Love has saved me.
When nothing could and for this I am estatic.

serena peck

Reasons

It's the way your touch feels in my hand.
Your smile sends chills down my spine.
I'm hypnotized by your eyes.
It's because you're the only one that sticks in my mind over the past eight years.
The way you dress.
These are the reasons I love you.
The way I can't remember anything when you're around.
The way I melt when I think of you.
The way I cry when I think you're gone for good.
These are the reasons I love you.
It's the way you bring out the real me.
The memories I replay of us.
How there's nothing we don't have in common.
It's how I feel so scared to call you.
It's how I wish you would come back.
These are the reasons I love you.

serena peck

Vengeance No More

Hope sheltered me from my shattered past.
Hatred shown me the way back.
Vengeance was my only option,
Then I felt this strange feeling.
Light was shining through.
Yes love has conquered all,
I shall hate no more.

serena peck