

Poetry Series

Tami Gee
- poems -

Publication Date:
2011

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

Tami Gee()

Darkness Falls

Darkness falls like compressed cotton No, not falls, but darkness tightens Constricting thought, head, and heart
Not even breath from body depart.

Tami Gee

October 26,2007

Tami Gee

Do You Love

'Do you love' I heard the rain sing
Is this real or just a dream
For this is not a dream that forever at me stares This can not be a dream but a horrible nightmare

'Do you love' I heard the thunder roar Alas, my heart was too heavy to soar.

'Do you love' I heard the wind sigh No more my spirit to be high

'I do love' I answered them all
'Does he love' they returned my call

Yes he does love
This I know
But it is not me that he loves so.

(November 10, 1986 age 15)

Tami Gee

Hell

If Hell is after life, I live in death every night.
I wake in death and in death I dwell.
For I know this Hell.

Somebody PLEASE let me out!

(around 1987 age 16)

Tami Gee

Hope May

Hope comes like a shining light Hope comes when there is no way in sight
When you lose your heart you lose it all But Hope is always there to catch you when you fall

When you think you can go on no more Just hang on you never know what Hope has in store

Hope may bring someone new Hope may bring someone you choose Hope may bring a new friend to you Hope may every say "this person needs a friend to"

(January 31,1987 age 15)

Tami Gee

I Have

I have walked through fire
I have crashed and burned
I have crawled into dark holes to avoid the blinding sun.

(March 1,2008)

Tami Gee

I Miss You Daughter

Child of my heart
Child of my soul
I miss you here how did I continue?
only with hope, prayer and tears Hope that someday you would be back to share my life and to fill again the hole in my soul

I miss you
My Daughter
My World

(March 1,2008)

Tami Gee

Light And Dark

Lost is the night
No safety in the light
Never regain sight

Helpless leering
Forced cheering
Deadly rearing

Beware your guard never lapse Your fears join your doubts
In the bottomless pit
In which your soul sits Never to come out

Darkness hides your great pride
But alas, which side
Do you ride?

Light thus right Dark thus might

Light and dark
No masters do they hark
Only your soul do they mark

Light and dark has its own wealth
Yet exits only in yourself

Tami Gee

Missed Motherhood

I held on as long as I could when this disease wanted me removed When all was said and done
I looked around and the one I loved was gone

My daughter, my soul, my heart stolen from me in my dark

Who, What, When, WHY?
I cry

I ache, burn, and miss years, years never to regain I never gave you up or gave up on you.

I miss you so much.
Please find me again.

My daughter, my heart, my soul

I LOVE YOU!

Tami Gee
June 22,2008

Tami Gee

Missing Piece

Miss my daughter part of my heart and soul missing piece that would make me whole

Please tell me someday maybe we will draw closer and fill that hole with love and memories of tomorrow and more

This is my heart's prayer and my soul's hope

(March 1,2008)

Tami Gee

Must Keep Control

Watch well lost ones Mind how your thoughts run Rest now for you are done

Done with days weary woes
Let not your ramblings command your soul
See how your head might roll Make sure you keep control

Look not deep for to see the depth Depth of darkness
Darkness untold
Must keep control

In deep minds eye Only you can quiet the night and control your sight

In the quite darkness
Only you have control
Let not your ramblings command your soul

(October 2,1999 age 28)

Tami Gee

Past, Present, Future

Lonely abyss, abandoned and alone Wandering and wishing, truth never shown Truth is said to lie in wait yet denied to I in evil hate

All I am and yet to be lost in the future I can't see Past is gone, scaring most the present a parasite and I host

Future, and untouchable goal straining to consume my very soul
All things lost
Why the cost?
Future exists not

(April 4,1999 age 28)

Tami Gee

Peace, Hope, Faith

Happiness to me denied lost and drifting, search for I what a loathsome lie.

Love promised and once fulfilled no sooner found than is killed hearts longing stilled.

Peace, once I knew its way once grasped, it refused to stay Not one more day.

Hope, that shining star ahead pulled from my hand instead Hope no more, it is dead.

Faith, what is left when there is no more Faith knows not the future for me in this lonely world.

(April 4,1999 age 28)

Tami Gee

Revengeful Hate

Come to me my lovers lost bow before my thrown.
Pledge your allegiance to only I for it is I that you need.

You once were leaders of men now you wander lost.
Hopelessly searching for happiness and finding pain and cost.

Come, surrender your soul and I shall make things well.
I shall give you reasons to live and every pain you've received to give.

I shall give you goals and strategies to overcome your enemy.
But beware, for I am revengeful hate and loneliness our bond will consummate.

I shall fulfill all things promised yet all things kind must you dismiss. for I am revengeful hate I gather my heard and close the gate..... forever.

Tami Gee

The Sin

Yesterday, long ago when my gaze wavered toward the sky and what did I chance to see but a great eagle in flight.

I was that lone bird my sprit flew and I had its sight

I could see the hearts of men they were like the stones of the earth Men who had not my eagle eyes

Men who through their greed couldn't see their sin for before I had warning
The men were hunting
They found guns and began shooting
I was falling falling□ falling

Then suddenly the men knew of the greedy sin for my eagle's eyes were never to open again

(September 28,1987 age 15)

Tami Gee

Vision Decision

In a vision rest long decision
Vision of death
Decision of life
A vision that lures and charms
A decision that demands

Long live vision
and suppressed decision
Vision of death
Decision of life
A vision that calls and beckons
A decision that commands

Long live vision
and suppressed decision
Vision of death
Decision of life

(1989 age 18)

Tami Gee