Eternal Smile; Mortal Rhyme

The smile on your elegant face,
It diminishes every others grace,

It exists as an eternal joy,
Feels like a child, with a new toy,

Looking at it dreams are made,
God bless it, never shall it fade,

Wrinkles, I don't find a trace,
You can win every beauty race,

As a thing of beauty is a joy forever,
Your joyous smile will die never,

My poem may be forgotten by time,
But Your beauty is eternal unlike my rhyme.

I Am Just Insane

As my pain prevails, my breathe fails.
My heart it sails among the sinful gales.

As my joy shrinks, my sorrow drinks,
Every dropp it trails, never it fails.

As I look down, to my fallen crown,
With a mournful frown, mocked like a clown.

I look at my friend, I will follow his trend,
My life is a blend, with a quick end.

Drowned in pain, my life is vain,
Joy is in drain, Or maybe I am just insane

I Surrender

No one can conquer me with power, anger and terror
As my heart is my castle and it is mine forever

I lost it in your eyes but I don't wonder
As the world around me smelled lavender

My castle fell for you with a huge thunder
Not talking to you was a great blunder

Had I said a word I believe down under
My life would have glowed like a chandler

In all my dreams I see you render
All I know is that, 'Yes...I surrender'

It's Really True

I always wanted to tell you that I really love you
All my life I have waited for this to come true,
You by my side, my love, makes me feel so good,
Wishing away to heaven, my words do suit your mood.

Lovely was the time when you entered my life,
Feeling love in the air on this world of strife,
Every time I think of it makes me feel alive,
Hoping every second that you'd become my wife.

Everything I built in my life, seems so small,
Here I am with myself, with you behind a wall,
To talk this way & speaking out, my inside crawls,
I hope u hold my heart as in your love it falls.

My Castle

No one can conquer me with power, anger and terror,
As my heart is my castle and it is mine forever.

Poet's Eye

Every beauty has to die,
unless seen by a poet's eye

The Eternal Bond

Marriages are made in heaven,
With Life God plays Beethoven.

The Song is for an eternal life,
Full of joys for the lovely bride.

To this song the heart dances,
To the sky of joys, it glances.

The glance seems forever,
The joys multiply and shall fade never.

With this bond dreams are made,
May the dreams come to life with a joyous shade.

True Love

When I advanced a step you took two,
This shows the love between us is true,
You have made me so happy tonight,
That I feel my heart is feather light,
I see my heart flying out of sight,
It comes to U please hold it tight.
