

Poetry Series

zoas noble
- poems -

Publication Date:
2013

Publisher:
Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

zoas noble()

Good Things Of Life!

Good things of life
Walked in through the doors
Amazing at it's gaze
I noticed it's unque beauty
Then, the challenges of life
Blew me off my feet
Amazing at it's pace
I felt it's untold fate and duty

Good things of life never cease
To bring me it's air to breath Truly amazing as they say Without love the world would be inanimate
Like the challenges of life
Taking away all the pleasures
And leaving a sole treasure
Not merely gold and silver
Nor friends and family
But, a golden heart
In an adventure
To learn the lessons of life.

zoas noble

Love Is Perfect And Justified

Just like sun and rain can you imagine the difference?
yet by working together they create harmony and balance in life.

Life is perfect and justified

Just like you and me can you see without difference?
that by our beingness we become a jewel to be crowned and unified in love.

Love is perfect and justified

zoas noble

My Hero

My good friend
I can't see our end
So together we defend Every attack that descend
No matter what people might say Together we shall sail
And together we stay

There would be no room for fears
There would be no eyes for tears
So for every ear that hears Would know that true heros never dies
No matter what fools might prize
Together we shall rise
And together there would be no plights

O! My good friend
Let me share your pains and your burden
And make history be forgotten
Let me share in your problems and your struggle
And make every mystery be unravelled
For together our enemies shall tremble
And together we become unstoppable
My Hero !

zoas noble

Natural Feeling

When I close my eyes or during My day dreaming
I see your face
And even when the wind
Blows from the far east
I hear your name and feel at peace
I know of the seven wonders
Of the world
But, to me you're
My everyday wonder
I see ;
So come my lady
I have opened my heart ;
To see life as a play of comedy
For an honest act
From the heart ;
Is the great weapon to fight
While walking gently and fearlessly like a cat.

zoas noble

The Worthiness Of Man's Being

In the many thoughts of doubts soaked into deep worries of man's survival i still wonder if the God we love, trust and cherish is always right Seeing us drowning in this ocean flowing endlessly into the unknown abyss catastrophic in nature and in texture Yet spontaneous it becomes unpremeditated to even give credit to this outflowing grace from the very divinity we trace

Oh in the many years of pains locked in strong chains of man's passions i still wonder! Is the world we love, trust and cherish always bright?
In seeing and in believing we didn't think it was worthwhile For to love is divine and true love isn't too much to wait when you have the faith
So, let all who seeketh love sail and never fall astray and let he who finds his own never share alone.

zoas noble